

STRATEGIC PLAN

2022 - 2027

100+ YEARS TRANSFORMATIONAL EDUCATION
AND MORE THAN A COLLEGE

ISSUE 2

It is my pleasure to introduce the Oaklands College Strategic Plan, which sets out our vision for the College for the period 2022-27

FOREWORD

CHAIR OF GOVERNORS

The College has recently reached its centenary year, and this has given us an opportunity to reflect on past achievements, the changes that have taken place in our society over that period, and the important role that colleges continue to play in their local communities.

In more recent memory, the last few years have seen the country and the further education sector face some significant challenges.

I want to take this opportunity to place on record how grateful the Corporation are to all staff for their hard work in ensuring the College has been able to continue to provide the services that our communities depend upon.

While the legacy of the last 100 years gives us much to be proud of, we have no intention of resting on our laurels.

This strategy sets out our aims and ambitions as we embark on what could be considered a new chapter for the College.

These aims and ambitions can be summarised by our new mission statement, which is to: 'Prepare every learner for work, a rewarding career and life's opportunities'.

One further aspect of the strategy that I think it is worth highlighting at the outset are our four cross cutting themes, which will be integral to all we undertake and at the very heart of what we want the College to be about. These are:

- Our commitment to sustainability and the environment
- Our commitment to the happiness and wellbeing of our College community
- Our commitment to digital transformation
- Our commitment to equality, diversity and inclusivity

Whether you are a student, staff member, local employer, or any of our other valued stakeholders, we look forward to working with you to achieve this strategy – shaping futures and transforming lives. Here's to the next 100 years!

PETER THOMPSON
CHAIR OF GOVERNORS

FOREWORD ANDREW SLADE

Now over 100 year old, Oaklands can look back with enormous pride at what we have achieved for and with our learners, staff and the many employers' communities and stakeholders we serve.

We also look forward, with confidence and optimism, to what we will do for our many stakeholders throughout our next century.

Oaklands has a long proud heritage in providing responsive, transformational education, tracing our roots back to when we opened our doors to both men and women on an equal basis in 1921.

Throughout our history, we have challenged and supported our students providing them with the knowledge and skills to achieve their individual ambitions and dreams so they can make their own contributions to their communities. Oaklands has always expected the best for, and from its students.

Whilst the operating environment for Further Education remains as challenging as ever, Oaklands has a history of rising to such challenges, seizing opportunities and empowering our stakeholders to do the same. For a century our adaptability, flexibility and community responsiveness have contributed to the college's success.

These remain the qualities we continue to demonstrate, and instil in others, to face our shared future.

This strategic plan developed at the start of a new Millennia for us sets out the direction of travel to achieve all of the ambition for our learners, staff and stakeholders.

ANDREW SLADE
PRINCIPAL AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE

LOOKING TO THE NEXT PHASE OF OUR TRANSFORMATIONAL EDUCATION

Oaklands remains true to our proud origins as a contemporary college community, looking forward, adapting, and innovating, whilst ensuring each one of our 7,500+ students is treated and respected as an individual

Students have access to over 1,500 full and part-time courses delivered across Oaklands three campuses, covering a wide spectrum of subjects, sectors and industries. We are nationally renowned for our sports academies where sporting and academic excellence are given equal importance.

Many of our alumni go on to compete globally and/or continue their sport and education in top US universities. Oaklands remains an ambitious institution, developing additional centres of excellence including SEND provision Engineering, Care, Early Years, Agritech and Creative Industries.

TRANSFORMATIONAL EDUCATION

As we begin our next 100 years, Oaklands is ideally placed to respond to current challenges and opportunities, including the need for a high quality, career-focused further education system.

We are well placed to move from being a locally significant and valued learning community to an educational group which is recognised at wider regional and national levels, whilst making an international contribution to an outward-looking and outward-reaching global Britain

Throughout the period covered by this strategic plan, we will become the destination of choice for an expanded and diversified offer to a larger number of students. In addition to the strengths of our expanding 16-19 curriculum, we will meet the skills needs of many more adults, including those developing through apprenticeships and other professional training programmes and extend the range of opportunities into higher levels skills programmes. We also support those working at lower levels to progress positively, enabling economic growth.

We will follow national education and skills policies to break down the artificial barriers between learning traditionally referred to as 'academic' and 'vocational' whilst promoting parity of esteem across all pathways. In doing these things, we will grow our student income across all of our provision, and through strategic partnerships we will ensure mutual benefit and long-term, sustainable relationships. We are well on our way to becoming a highly respected and aspirational brand that stands for innovation, integrity and collaboration. We will achieve excellence through the quality of Oaklands refreshed offer, our expanded estate and enhanced facilities.

Our strong values and ethical approach will be a beacon of best practice in sustainability, SMART digital technology and mental health and wellbeing. In all this, we will remain true to our origins as a welcoming, inclusive learning community, providing career-changing education, that supports progression opportunities for our students to high quality destinations.

To achieve this, we will work with our partners, employers and stakeholder groups to ensure we are co-developing and co-creating the required educational programmes, services and learning environments.

OUR OAKLANDS LEARNING COMMUNITY

Oaklands is a complex and vibrant community, with teaching, learning and assessment at our heart and forming our core business. Education and skills unite individuals; they give all learners and teachers a shared purpose and a common goal.

The outcomes we secure with and for our students improve life chances and change lives for the better. Quality outcomes depend on the quality of teaching, learning and assessment, as well as the support provided for those activities.

Central to all our planning is delivering the very best teaching learning and support.

Our approach to teaching, learning and assessment will continue to be characterised by:

- Teachers and assessors who use their great subject expertise and strong grasp of the skilled craft of teaching to provide outstanding learning opportunities - being innovative to maximise learner potential
- Teachers and assessors who have a holistic understanding of the individual learner and their needs
- Teachers and assessors who understand well the demands of the specifications and assessments learners are working towards and who prepare them to achieve to their fullest potential, gaining the qualifications and skills they need to progress to the next stage of study or employment
- Learners and apprentices who enjoy their learning and the learning environment
- Learners and apprentices who work in strong partnership with teachers, employers and fellow students as part of a mutually respectful, supportive community of learning

Our approach to learner support is to guarantee that all learners are fully accepted for who they are and fully supported to become what they want to become.

Our support for staff is rooted in the shared understanding that our people are Oaklands' most valuable resource and that teaching, assessing and supporting students are demanding and rewarding professions whose practitioners need to be enabled to develop their own skills and knowledge continuously.

Our commitment to lifelong learning as a college is something we practice ourselves as staff through all roles across the organisation. Advances in knowledge and technology, including artificial and virtual technologies which support teaching and learning, create for all Oaklands staff a dynamic environment, one which embraces change, new challenges and new opportunities.

NATIONAL CONTEXT

For the past few years our College, our communities, the UK and the wider world have been in the grip of a pandemic from which we are still emerging.

As we move forward, we must do so in an environment where the pandemic has produced social and economic harm, with adverse impacts on physical and mental health, and an adverse educational impact over a number of years on adults and particularly young people.

Much of the operating environment of further education - the employment landscape, working practices, studying methods and recent political changes have changed significantly and many of the changes will have longer-term effects. The pressure on public finances will restrict future investment in education; further education has already been the sector most affected by the austerity measures of the past decade.

However, inequalities and opportunity gaps, which further education is so committed to and adept at addressing, have also been exacerbated by the pandemic. The relevance, levels and availability of home-grown skills post-Brexit are another major challenge identified by many businesses and employers, but there is a growing consensus now that further education has the key role to play in addressing skills shortages and gaps.

It can do so across the whole post-16 age range and at all levels, including a greater role in higher level skills. Additionally, the imperatives of climate change and the range of climate commitments made by the UK government prioritise new green technologies and with them the skills and knowledge that they require.

The Skills for Jobs White Paper leading to the Skills and Post 16 Education Act 2022 heralds both important opportunities and obligations for FE.

The policy commitments are to ensure that there is "Lifelong Learning for Opportunity and Growth", the realising of higher technical qualifications, and preparing young people for a portfolio/digital career.

This aligns entirely with our mission, as does the government's determination to "prioritise the courses and qualifications that enable people to get great jobs".

However, while this major policy statement identifies the preeminent role of FE in delivering the skills essential to economic growth, it also makes clear what Oaklands has always believed, "that further education and training are equally about fulfilment and enrichment on a personal level".

More recently this agenda for FE has been set in the wider policy context of 'Levelling Up'. Levelling Up is defined as "giving everyone and everywhere the opportunity to flourish"; Oaklands is, and will continue to be, at the forefront of turning those ambitions into reality.

The national policy environment reflects all these challenges and increasingly looks to colleges of further education such as Oaklands to address them.

This strategy places great emphasis in positioning the College to be internationally known, nationally recognised, regionally relevant, and locally significant ambitious at reaching a greater number of individuals, businesses and stakeholders to grow its offer to meet economic and social needs.

REGIONAL & LOCAL CONTEXTS

The communities our College serves and the partners we engage with are a rich and complex mix; they include learners at all levels of learning and stages in their lives, their families, other local education providers, local government, other public services in health and social care, and a very wide range of local employers and businesses through our work-based and employment-facing learning.

Through the introduction of Local Skills Improvement Plans (LSIPs) and the deepening focus on the alignment of FE and business, our ever growing focus on employer engagement will become stronger still as FE's natural affinity with employers and with the complex, changing world of work receives fresh support, encouragement and investment.

Oaklands prepares and empowers people for employment opportunities not just locally and regionally but nationally and internationally. At Oaklands, there is particularly strong engagement with employers in our local and regional communities with an emerging focus on developing national and international relationships.

We align both our curriculum offer and our wider support to learners with the aims and priorities of the Hertfordshire and London LSIPs, The Hertfordshire Futures Board (Hertfordshire County Council), its sub-boards, and its Skills and Employment Strategy and the emerging economic & adult learning strategies.

Oaklands has aligned its focus to the Identified regional priority and growth sectors including Creative (Film & TV), Engineering, Construction including retrofit and sustainability, Health and Social Care and Early Years, Business, Travel, Hospitality & Aviation and Sport and we remain committed to developing centres of excellence.

Encouraging greater access to transformational education coincides with an added growth opportunity for Oaklands with the demographic upturn of the local 16-19 age group and the increasing demand for school places, including places locally for those with SEND.

We have both the estate capacity and expanding high quality facilities to accommodate this growth.

We are determined to work with local partners to ensure that the availability and cost of travel to outstanding opportunities present no obstacles to our learners.

We are determined to seize opportunities for co-investment and partnerships to deliver future skills needs and enhance life chances.

Just as importantly, in an employment landscape that changes so fast, Oaklands is committed to equipping our learners with flexible and transferable skills required for new emerging opportunities locally, prioritising those identified through local skills improvement plans as the skills most valued by employers.

THEMES

OUR CROSS CUTTING THEMES

In the daily life and work of Oaklands there are embedded underlying principles which are encapsulated in four cross-cutting themes that underpin our thinking and practice:

OUR COMMITMENT TO SUSTAINABILITY AND THE ENVIRONMENT

We commit to:

- Promoting energy efficiency and clean energy sources
- Eliminating waste and pollution, recycling wherever possible
- Partnering with sustainable companies and organisations
- Promoting sustainability through the curriculum, through teaching and learning, and through staff development
- Providing the skills and knowledge which a green industrial revolution requires
- Co-creating new provision that enables people to gain jobs in the green/sustainable economy
- Creating world class estates and facilities which are recognised in terms of their quality, sustainability and their promotion and practice of evolving leading-edge technologies

OUR COMMITMENT TO THE HAPPINESS AND WELLBEING OF OUR COLLEGE COMMUNITY

We commit to:

- Delivering effective mental health and wellbeing support services to students and staff
- Evaluating our support in these areas using an evidence-based approach
- Working in collaborative partnerships with others to promote mental health and wellbeing and to deliver support
- Promoting positive mental health behaviours and an inclusive culture which encourages early intervention and reduces stigma
- Creating an inclusive, supportive, thriving college community, one committed to the health, wellbeing and success of all who work and study there by developing and implementing strategies to support all the College community

We commit to:

- Using existing and emerging digital technologies and electronic platforms to enhance the ways we collect and use data to make informed decisions and improve the quality of services, experiences and outcomes for all our stakeholders – learners, families, staff, businesses
- Using digital transformation to improve operational efficiency, enhance internal processes, reduce costs, and eliminate waste Increasing the speed and quality of our service to all stakeholders
- Digital transformation, which is not just about technological change in itself, but about people change, process change, pedagogical change, digitised facilities an estates, as well as organisational leadership and management change at all levels
- A fully digitally collaborative and connected College campus and community
- Embedding industry leading standards to support the future of digital education

OUR COMMITMENT TO EQUALITY, DIVERSITY AND INCLUSIVITY

We commit to:

- Ensuring the principles of equality, diversity and inclusivity are embedded in all policies, systems and practices, so no one is unfairly disadvantaged or discriminated against
- Creating an environment which values differences, raises aspiration and provides an opportunity for everyone to achieve where all students, staff, governors, visitors contractors and stakeholders are welcomed and treated with respect regardless of their disability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity, religion, sexualorientation, or social background
- Valuing the different contributions made by students and staff and make use of their diverse backgrounds and experiences to enhance our learning community and to promote a culture of mutual respect and understanding
- Encouraging and fostering good relationships and understanding between people from different groups and backgrounds to address unconscious bias because we believe that diversity is a strength and something that should be respected and celebrated by all those who learn, teach and visit here
- Actively encouraging diverse recruitment practices for staff and learners from all groups within the communities we serve
- Taking positive action to promote and ensure there is equality of outcomes for all students and staff we will regularly consult with students, staff, governors and key partners

OUR CURRICULUM INTENT

LEARNERS ARE THE CENTRE OF OUR UNIVERSE

The curriculum at Oaklands College is ambitious and accessible, responsive both to individual ambitions of learners and the needs of the communities we serve, supporting students to overcome barriers whilst providing the relevant learning and skills required to realise their full potential - supporting them towards future sustainable careers

- We ensure equal access to learners at all stages of their lives to ensure they are on the right course with the right support to excel in their chosen programme of study
- We are ambitious for our learners at all ages and stages of their learning; we offer more than a qualification, providing the wider knowledge, experience and skills development so that learners progress to positive next steps
- The curriculum is structured to enable students to attain relevant and valued qualifications, skills and training to realise their full potential and to maximise their progression
- The curriculum offer is kept under review to allow us to respond to new and emerging needs identified by our stakeholders and government educational policy
- A student's next step is at the heart of what we do, through support and empowerment, and by raising aspirations, thereby providing a clear route to chosen career opportunities

STRATEGIC AIMS & OBJECTIVES

Through the execution of our 2022 – 2027 Strategic Plan, we will achieve the following strategic aims and objectives, which have key actions set out in our annual operating plan.
